

Brutal D.C. Slaying, Police Still Hunt Clues

Daly City police still had no suspects today in the brutal slaying of 18-year-old Linda Marie Nelson, whose body was found by a nine-year-old bike rider on a little-used dirt road alongside Junipero Serra Freeway Sunday morning.

The pretty honey-blond had been stabbed and slashed at least 30 times, according to a pathology report. Two instruments — possibly a knife and an axe — were used in the vicious attack, police said.

An autopsy performed on the victim shortly after she was found some five blocks from her home at 7324 Mission Street, Daly City, noted 19 head wounds, cuts on the wrist, arm and breast and her throat "neatly cut."

Detective Sergeant John Kolbmann called the murder "the most brutal attack" he had investigated in recent years.

Linda, a waitress at the Pilgrim Pie Shoppe in San Bruno, returned home from work about 10 p.m. Saturday and took her six-month-old pet dachshund dog for a walk, the victim's mother told police.

Some 20 minutes later the dog returned alone.

A search of the neighborhood by Mrs. Louis Nelson failed to turn up her daughter. Shortly after midnight, the distraught woman called police.

At 10:20 a.m. Sunday, the unidentified cyclist called police after spotting the crumpled body of a young woman lying in a pool of blood next to the Southern Pacific railroad tracks west of Market Street.

"She put up a fantastic fight in an effort to ward off her attacker," Kolbmann said. Kolbmann said wounds on the girl's arms and wrists supported this theory.

Several residents of the area told police they heard sounds similar to a cat "yowling" or a baby crying around midnight.

Missing from the scene along with the murder weapons was the girl's shoes. Her mother could not recall whether Linda had worn them for her walk.

She was graduated from Jefferson High School in June and lived with her mother at the Mission Street address. She was the youngest of five children — one sister and three brothers. Her father lives in Santa Rosa.

Fellow employees at the San Bruno pie shop, where Linda had worked since last Spring, said they were stunned by the death.

"She was a nice quiet girl, always pleasant and happy," the store manager said.

Savage Murder of Girl 43 Years Ago in Same Area Was Unsolved

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The savage murder of pretty Linda Marie Nelson of Daly City on a dirt road only four blocks from her Mission Street home is the second such bloody incident in the same location in the city's history.

In both cases, involving young and pretty girls, the murderer remains at large.

And in both cases the victim was slashed and stabbed repeatedly.

In the earlier case — some 43 years ago within a block of Sunday morning's atrocity — Geraldine Silicani was walking home after getting off the old Line 40 streetcar.

She never made it!

As she walked along Mateo Street, in what was then Colma, her attacker jumped from a hedge and began stabbing and slashing with a pocketknife.

The killer stopped after plunging the weapon into his victim 17 times.

How the girl managed to crawl on her stomach to an all-night Greek restaurant (where Lucca Market now stands) still amazes persons familiar with the incident.

Bleeding from multiple wounds she staggered into the restaurant near her home shortly after midnight and collapsed in a bloody heap on the floor — the knife still in her back.

Constable Phil Landini tried for years to bring the girl's killer to justice.

He did not succeed.

Geraldine lived for three weeks in a South San Francisco hospital. But the shock and loss of blood was too much.

"She might have lived if the incident happened today," Mrs. Florine Anisky, a relative of the victim, said.

The Silicani case and the Nelson incident are similar in other respects too.

Both had recently left schools: Miss Nelson graduated from Jefferson High School last June. Miss Silicani graduated from the St. Joseph's convent where she was raised since childhood, three months before her death.

Miss Silicani was 19 and Miss Nelson 18.

Both were on their way home from work or had just returned from work.

The Silicani girl was employed as an office worker in downtown San Francisco while Miss Nelson had been employed as a waitress at a San Bruno pie shop.

Miss Silicani had happened onto a male friend, Charlie Silvestri, outside the Greek restaurant.

He first offered to escort her along the deserted dark street but later changed his mind.

Silvestri later told friends it was the most upsetting decision he had ever made.

Unlike the Silicani case, Daly City police have no murder weapon. Detective sergeant John Kolbmann today thinks much like constable Landini did almost a half century ago: The killer must be deranged!

Pay, Benefit Package Given Some Bruno City Workers

San Bruno city councilmen Monday confirmed salary and fringe benefit increases with four out of six city employee groups.

Agreements have still not been reached with the Fire Fighters' local and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees' local representing park, water, street and other "outside" employees.

Five Injured In Crash on Mount Bruno

Five persons were injured on Monday noon in a two-car head-on crash on Guadalupe Canyon Parkway atop San Bruno Mountain.

According to police, a car driven by Gerald Trush, 34, of 332 Railroad Avenue, South San Francisco, apparently lost control on a curve and hit a car being driven in the opposite direction by Eric Jacobson, 50, of 84 Westlake Drive, Daly City.

The Trush car hit an embankment and rolled over, police said. Other motorists helped the injured from the wrecked vehicles.

Trush suffered head injuries and was reported in satisfactory condition at Mary's Help Hospital, where all five injured were taken.

Driver Jacobson received a broken rib and ankle injuries. Admitted to Mary's Help Hospital, Donald McKee, 26, of 1833 Blue Spruce Road, Millbrae, guarded condition with facial lacerations and dislocated right wrist.

Kathy Swanson, 25, of 332 Railroad Avenue, South San Francisco (satisfactory condition with leg injuries and facial cuts); Thomas Dennison, 29, of 166 San Benito Avenue, Brisbane (transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco).

Councilmen met in executive sessions before last night's meeting—which started 15 minutes late as a result. They also went back into executive sessions after the meeting, which adjourned after 10 p.m.

The memoranda of understanding reached with the four employee groups had been kept confidential for several weeks but were released today, as the councilmen acted upon them last night. They were effective as of July 1.

The memoranda, which are signed by City Mgr. Gerald Minford and employee representatives in lieu of union contracts, will be good for a two-year period, with a provision that salaries be raised at the end of the first year, in accordance with the cost of living index.

According to memoranda of understanding reached with the four unions:

1. Employees represented by the City Employees Association — office workers and others working at City Hall — will receive increases of 3.5 per cent. On top of this, 2½ per cent increases will be granted to four groups, junior civil engineers, engineering assistants, senior account clerks and bookkeepers.

2. Employees represented by the San Bruno Police Assn. would receive increases of 3.7 per cent. The uniform allowance would be raised to $135. If by February 1, the average police salary, based on the local five-city average, is more than $15 over San Bruno's, the city agrees to adjust to the average, effective July 1, 1973, in addition to the cost of living adjustment.

3. Employees represented by the Administrative Employees Assn. would get pay hikes of 3.7

per cent. Two jobs would get additional increases of 2½ per cent this year and 2½ per cent more next year — city librarian and accounting officer. All employees not eligible for overtime or compensatory time off, will receive five days management leave each year in recognition of the many hours of overtime spent each year.

4. Employees represented by the Supervisors Assn. will get a 3.8 per cent increase. Ten positions would get an additional 2.8 per cent increase this year and another 2.8 per cent next year. Among new salaries would be: Water Service superintendent, $996-$1208; park superintendent, $973-$1181, and CATV chief technician, $904-$1098.

State Awards Road Contract

A contract for a traffic light at El Camino Real and Murchison Drive in Millbrae was awarded Friday by the State Department of Public Works.

R. Flatland Co. of San Mateo, the lowest of four bidders at $46,650, got the contract. The new traffic signal will be interconnected with the existing system at heavily-travelled El Camino and Millbrae Avenue a block to the north.

The contractor was granted 160 working days to complete the project.

Three stretches of San Mateo County highways were approved for resurfacing by the State Highway Commission in San Jose Thursday.

One mile immediately south of the San Francisco city line, will cost an estimated $74,400. Skyline north of the San Mateo County line in San Francisco also will be resurfaced for a 1.8-mile distance to Sloat Boulevard, the cost put at $42,600.

El Camino Real in Burlingame, from 0.8 to 2.1 miles north of Broadway, will be resurfaced at an estimated cost of $84,000.

The commission said that the one-inch thick asphaltic concrete blankets are applied to roads that require more than general maintenance but which are not scheduled for reconstruction in the near future.

Sale of Vista Grande CATV To Denver Network Seen

The Vista Grande Cable Television Company, operating under a franchise agreement in the Daly City area, is expected to be sold to the nation's fourth largest CATV network — Tele-Communications Inc. of Denver, Colorado.

Plagued by financial and supply problems, the Vista Grande firm has fallen behind in its agreed schedule with the city on connections to cable users.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky recently asked the company to explain why it had not met its agreement to the city.

He was told by Henry E. Gastman, vice president of Vista Grande, that efforts to provide the city with the most modern system in the United States (20 channels) coupled with a shortage of special electronic parts was primarily to blame.

Washington (D.C.) attorney Arthur Stambler, representing Vista Grande president, Mrs. Morgan Murphy, and attorney Daniel W. Shields, of Tele-Communications, yesterday said agreement on the sale of the company was near.

The sale, according to Shields, is contingent on whether an extension of time would be granted by the city council to the cable TV company.

Asked what plans Tele-Communications had for the Daly City area if the purchase package went through, Shields said first priority would be given to accelerating installation of lines throughout the city.

While Vista Grande (the company name will not change after the sale) claims to have cable installed for some 15,000 hook-ups in Daly City and the Broadmoor area, there are only 2,700 actual homes subscribing to its use.

Bob Magness, president of Tele-Communications, said he was in the process of purchasing several cable companies in California from the Evening Telegram Company of Superior, Wisconsin.

The Evening Telegram Company has been owned and operated by Mrs. Morgan Murphy since the death last year of her husband.

Costs of the Daly City-Pacific venture had surpassed cost projections and the newspaper company invested several million dollars in the partially-completed system which now stretches from Half Moon Bay to Daly City and Pacifica.

Related cable companies are also located in the Fremont-Hayward area.

TCI, as the new company is known in the industry, serves some 250,000 subscribers in 22 states. It also operates a major common carrier microwave communications network of more than 13,000 route miles.

Under the new company's guidance it was hoped the Daly City system would be in full operation — including a local TV station — by the end of the year, Shields predicted.

At the "worst" target dates would be next spring, he said.

Council Overrules Its Planners in San Bruno

San Bruno councilmen voted Monday by a 3-2 split to overrule their planning commission and rezone a five-acre site in Crestmoor from apartment classification to R1-D.

R1-D is a new kind of single-family zoning for San Bruno which lowers the population density but permits clustering of homes.

Mayor George Corey and Margaret Kozowski voted against the zoning. Councilman Tony Governale sided with John Barnard and Neil Christal, who made and seconded the motion.

There were a number of unusual aspects about the zoning dispute. The site is steep, overlooking Freeway 280, adjoins Crestmoor High School, and fronts on the bottom of steep London Court.

The rezoning had started as a part of a campaign of Planning Commissioner Leon Miller to cut down the future population density throughout San Bruno. It was he who had initially proposed rezoning the apartment site, but his fellow commissioners had voted down his proposal.

Although the owner appeared to be George W. Williams, a principal in the former Consolidated Lands Corp., it turned out that he had given a quarter interest in it to the San Mateo Junior College District Foundation, and another quarter to the San Mateo Union High School District. Proceeds from the land's income is planned to go to aid needy students.

Thus it was that Matteo Fasano, business manager of the college district, appeared before the council last night to protest the rezoning.

Robert Nyland of 115 London Court, wanted the site rezoned because the area is made up of only one or two-family homes at present. Children are playing in the quiet court because there is no park nearby.

Gary Mondfrans of Pepper Drive cited cutting down the density from a permissible 100 units to 30 units at the most. He urged that the rezoning also be considered by the Traffic Safety Committee.

Former Councilman Dick Griffith cited an opportunity to cut down density. He asked City Atty. Joe Galligan whether there could be a referendum on the zoning. Galligan replied that there can be one only if the council acts—not if they simply leave the site zoned for apartments. However, he added that the neighbors can initiate a rezoning, just as in the successful 7-Eleven store situation in Crestmoor.

Local conservationist Ellie Larson felt that the rezoning would not be arbitrary, since the council had, in the past year, acted a number of times to cut down future density.

Williams asserted that the site (Please See Page 2, Column 8)

Schrock Is Fire Chief In Daly City

Margaret Emily Bates

Crowning Slated

Margaret Emily Bates, 19-year-old resident of Foster City, will officially receive the crown of Miss San Mateo County Saturday at ceremonies at the Hilton Inn where her predecessor, Dianne Wagner, now Miss California, makes her official visit home to San Mateo County.

Meg, who will enter her final year at U.C. Berkeley this fall, is a talented vocalist who is studying to become a doctor. When contacted by the local pageant association regarding her succession to the title of Miss San Mateo County, Meg asked that the crowning be postponed a few days, since she was recovering from a case of measles.

With the measles cured, the coronation will be held in conjunction with the official Homecoming Celebration of Miss California and will be followed by a semi-formal dinner dance at the Hilton Inn at the Airport.

By ALAN QAULE

Burlingame pharmacist Lawrence Plagmann charges that second class medicine is being given Medi-Cal recipients in California and adds that "some people are apt to die because of it."

Plagmann told The Post that the culprit for this dilemma is the Department of Health Care Services in Sacramento which initiated "price ceilings" on the amount pharmacists may spend for some Medi-Cal drug purchases.

As a result, participating pharmacists are forced to purchase some cheaper brands of drugs for Medi-Cal recipients and Plagmann charged that the state agency refuses to assure pharmacists that the cheaper drugs are of sufficient quality to actually help persons taking them.

"They say it's classified information which we can't have," Plagmann said. "But this violates a state code which obligates pharmacists to dispense only those drugs with which we have faith," he added.

Plagmann said there are "about 100" of the cheaper drugs in question—that number involves about one-third of all drugs allowed in the formulae of the Medi-Cal system.

When asked to give an example of a less expensive drug now being dispensed, Plagmann cited Digoxin, a drug for heart disease.

"The state rigidly cut the price allowed for purchasing digoxin, forcing pharmacists to purchase lesser quality digoxin," he said.

"We have already tested the digoxin being used and have found it does not dissolve properly in the stomach," said Plagmann, who spearheaded formation of Operation Fair Shake, a group of 10 pharmacists opposed to the state's price ceilings on drugs.

"Hence the recipient is not going to get effective results from the drug," he added, noting that digoxin slows and strengthens heart beat.

Plagmann was then asked if death could result.

"Certainly it could," he retorted. "And when you receive two or three of these lesser quality drugs it only compounds the danger."

The Burlingame pharmacist said Operation Fair Shake's total concern is for quality drugs. He was adamant in stating that whether or not cheaper drugs are dispensed has absolutely no effect on money made by pharmacists dispensing Medi-Cal drugs.

"We make a flat fee on each Medi-Cal prescription," he said.

Why did the state agency initiate the price ceilings?

"Simply to save money," Plagmann said.

Plagmann, owner of Burlingame Drug for the past 22 years, said Operation Fair Shake is prepared to take legal action if state legislators are unable to pressure the state agency into making public test results on the less expensive drugs.

"We have a law suit drawn up, but we haven't filed it yet," he said.

He noted there are more than 75,000 Medi-Cal recipients in San Mateo County and said, "We feel people who have to receive drugs should have the very best and nothing less."

"As concerned pharmacists, we are going to attack any inconsistency or impropriety we encounter in the state program," he said.

Robert L. Jackson, an executive secretary in the state Health Services Department, commented to The Post on Plagmann's allegations:

"The department has assured itself that there are quality products available at established reimbursable cost list prices which meet the needs of the prescriber and dispenser in meeting the medical needs of the beneficiaries of the Medi-Cal program."

$15,000 Theft Told

Police are investigating a $15,000 jewel theft from an auto parked at a Burlingame restaurant on Monday.

East Bay executive Albert P. Capozzi of Fremont told police he parked his auto near Charlie Brown's Restaurant, 1550 Old Bayshore, at 8 p.m. and entered the restaurant for dinner prior to a flight to the East Coast.

A patron nearing the restaurant spotted a smashed window in Capozzi's auto and police were called. Investigating officers discovered that Capozzi's suitcase, containing a diamond brooch and gold and emerald ring, was missing.

Officers quickly searched nearby parking lots in an attempt to locate the thieves, but were unsuccessful.

Police described the stolen ring as a woman's cocktail ring of white gold with a setting of emeralds in the center and numerous diamonds arranged around the emerald like spokes of a wheel. The value was estimated at $7,500.

The missing brooch is approximately three inches long, oval shaped and set with numerous diamonds. Its value was also set at $7,500.

Award for Bruno Death

A Los Altos widow and a son have been awarded $450,000 damages in a suit stemming from the death of her husband in a 1969 Southern Pacific commuter train accident in San Bruno.

A jury returned the verdict Monday in favor of Mrs. Louise Clerk and her son, George Wayne Clerk.

Her husband, George Clerk, was one of four killed when a piece of pipe being installed near the railroad right-of-way rammed the side of the train and plunged into the cars on Feb. 10, 1969. Eighteen others were injured.

The Clerk case was the first of eight resulting from the accident.

The jury cleared Southern Pacific of liability and ruled that ARB Inc., a contracting firm, and Southern Pacific Pipeline Inc., a subsidiary of the railroad, are liable.

SSF Rape Try Arrest

A San Francisco mechanic, Napoleon Urbina, 33, was arrested Saturday by South San Francisco police on charges of attempted rape and burglary.

Police said a man attempted to rape a 14-year-old girl after forcing open a kitchen window of her home at 3:10 a.m.

Urbina was arrested by South San Francisco policemen in San Francisco.

Police said the assailant suffered a cut above an eye in struggling with her and fled in a pickup truck.

The girl then ran out of the house to a neighbor's home.

Smog Office Hours Slated By St. Clair

San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair, newly-elected chairman of the Board of Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, announced that he will hold office hours at district headquarters from 9 a.m. to noon on the second and Wednesday of each month.

"In order for people to be able to communicate more readily with the board of directors, and to be more responsive to citizen input, I am making myself available to discuss air pollution with concerned citizens," St. Clair said.

District headquarters is located at 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco. Those wishing to make an appointment should telephone in advance.

John Barnard made his successful motion for the rezoning on the basis of lack of access and the fact that Williams would not be hurt since he had no plan yet.

Under questioning, Williams proposed that a second entrance to the apartments may come by extending Piedmont and using high school land for access. He added that there were actually no plans for any development within the near future since there are too many vacant apartments on the market.

Councilman Tony Governale moved to refer the matter to the Traffic Safety Committee. Correy retorted that they could not act since there was no plan yet. Governale's motion died for lack of a second.

Demos Blast BART Tax Exemption Bill

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Two top Democrats from the North County have condemned a recent bill passed by the State Senate exempting the Bay Area Rapid Transit District from paying tax to San Mateo County and have asked Governor Reagan to veto it.

Assemblyman Leo Ryan and Daly City Councilman Louis J. Papan have strongly urged the governor to exercise his veto power to kill Senate Bill 108, authored by John Nejedly (Rep., Contra Costa).

In a letter to Reagan, Assemblyman Ryan pointed out the bill "affects only the people of San Mateo County by giving to the Bay Area Rapid Transit (District) tax exempt status" on its property within the county.

Presently, BART's property consists of several acres in Daly City on Knowles Avenue. The terminus station for the system is nearing completion on the site after many years of negotiation and planning.

Papan explained the headaches involved in past talks with BART on station design, parking and future extensions of the rapid transit system down the Peninsula.

Along with other officials, Papan fears Nejedly's bill might set a precedent on exempting other "outside" properties, such as those owned by San Francisco.

co at International Airport and the Crystal Springs watershed, from paying taxes to San Mateo County.

Such a move could prove disastrous, officials explain.

An unwelcome BART moved into San Mateo County, specifically Daly City, in 1964, resulting in the removal of 155 private homes from the local tax rolls, Papan said.

These homeowners paid some $62,000 in property taxes. BART has paid in the neighborhood of $22,000 annually, a loss to the county of $40,000. The transit system pays only on the land which has an assessed valuation of $165,435, records show.

On top of this financial loss, county taxpayers now face an added loss of an estimated $30,000, Ryan and Papan noted.

"Due to the complex and controversial history of BART and San Mateo County, the passage of this legislation would place the cities in San Mateo County in a most detrimental negotiating posture in the future," Ryan said.

Ryan also registered his objections "to the manner in which SB 108 received passage."

He said Senator Nejedly made no attempt to inform him of the measure until it had been introduced and was well on its way to passage. Worse, he had no time to consult with cities within his district on the issue, Ryan informed Governor Reagan.

In addition to Ryan and Papan, Senator Arlen Gregorio and Assemblyman Dixon Arnett have voiced opposition to the measure.

Man Charged In Rape of Girl, 11

A South San Francisco man was arrested and charged with rape and crimes against children on Friday after he allegedly took an 11-year-old child to a Serra Drive address and raped her.

The child told police she was walking along the street when the accused rapist, identified as Robert A. Rafaelli, 27, pretended he was a police officer and she had to accompany him for questioning.

Police said Rafaelli then drove the girl to a building on Serra Drive where he raped her. She later fled and reported the incident to police.

The victim provided investigators with a description of the attacker, his car and the building she was taken to.

Rafaelli is also known as Robert LaRoi, police said. He is employed as a service station attendant in South San Francisco.

Foods Firm to Move to S.S.F.

Landstrom Company, wholesale distributor of special purpose foods, plans to move its headquarters and major distribution facilities from Daly City to the Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Office-Industrial Park in South San Francisco.

Robert A. Merriam, Landstrom's 29-year-old president, said that the growth of his company's business in recent years and new concepts in warehousing efficiency necessitate the move to this specially designed 90,500-square-foot building.

Dog Routs Daly City Rapist

A pet mongrel dog Friday was credited with routing a would-be rapist of a young Daly City girl in the Westlake Section of the city.

Police said the dog was sleeping under the intended victim's bed when the screams of his 18-year-old mistress prompted the dog to take "positive action."

The usually docile dog ran out from under the bed and jumped at the armed intruder.

The man ran from the house with the dog close on his heels, according to police.

Here are the events that led up to the man-dog confrontation:

About 1:45 p.m. a delivery man dropped off a small parcel at the Edgemont Drive address and left.

G. S. Dang of Pacifica, a leading writer on conservation issues in the nation, has been reinstated to his job with the San Francisco Public Works department. Dang testified that he was unjustly dismissed from his job because he wrote allegedly critical articles of the water department in his weekly column for various Bay Area newspapers.

The San Francisco Civil Service commission ruled that Dang should not have been fired from his new job as a $1,000 a month assistant engineer. They ordered him restored to his former post as a $900 a month junior engineer and that back pay be reinstated. Dang had been fired on May 20 for alleged insubordination.

ACLU lawyers testified that his right of free speech was being denied to him. The native of India has a major article on Nader's report on California in the March issue of Environmental Quality magazine.

Shortly after, a young man with shoulder length hair, 5'9" in height and wearing a brown leather jacket, came to the house and informed the victim he was "an inspector" for the delivery company and wanted to inspect the furniture that was just delivered.

He was told no such delivery was made and he left.

Thirty minutes later he returned. This time, brandishing a pistol, he forced his way into the home. After binding his victim with tape he forced her into the bedroom where he apparently intended to rape her, police said.

The screams of his victim brought the dog out from under the bed, police said.

Delila actually lifts out the whole hair from the follicle... leaves your skin beautifully smooth and free from hair for weeks.

The little extra time Delila may take at first won't matter once you find that you can really forget about hair removal... yes, for weeks.

There are no blunt ends. No prickly stubble, no nicks or cuts. And there's no quick grow back. When hair eventually does come in, it seems sparser and baby soft.

Embezzling Charge Told

A missing woman who was formerly office manager-cashier for a San Bruno automobile agency is accused in a civil suit filed in Superior Court with misappropriating $110,000 of firm's money between May, 1969, and February, 1972.

Also named in the suit are two certified public accountants who are accused of having "collaborated and conspired" with the woman because they allegedly failed to discover the losses in audits of the company's financial records.

The suit, filed by attorney George R. Corey on behalf of Melody-Toyota, Inc., of San Bruno, names the former office manager, Lorraine Anne Hoover, and two Hayward accountants, Glen Whalen and Frank Shubat, as defendants.

Corey said that Mrs. Hoover has been sought since leaving her job last February. A criminal warrant accusing her of grand theft has been issued, he reported.

The suit states that as a result of the failure to discover the monetary losses, the firm suffered tax penalties and had to pay $4000 for an accountant to restore the company's books and records to a condition of accuracy.

The complaint seeks return of the $110,000, punitive damages in the amount of $300,000, plus the cost of restoring the books. It also asks that the accountants be required to repay the automobile agency $192 a month they received for auditing work since May, 1969.

Auto Repair Group Forms

Local auto repair shop owners are forming The San Bruno Automotive Association in an attempt to "weed out" questionable auto repairs in their area and reestablish public faith in their business.

The San Bruno group will cooperate with the newly formed

State Bureau of Automotive Repairs, according to Dudley Marshall, President of Marshall Auto Service Wreckers, Inc., who announced plans to form the association today.

The announcement of plans to form the association follows the arrest last week of a San Bruno auto repair shop owner and his mechanic after a customer complained of alleged "misservice" to the State Consumer Affairs Division, Bureau of Automotive Repairs.

The Times reported the arrests in Wednesday's newspaper, but in reference to plans to form the association, Marshall said "we had the ball rolling before it hit the papers."

Marshall added that "right now there are doubts in the minds of everyone in the area as to the honesty of San Bruno garage owners."

"One speck of dirt can create a sandstorm," he added. Marshall noted that approximately 40 auto repair shops in the San Bruno area have been asked to join the association.

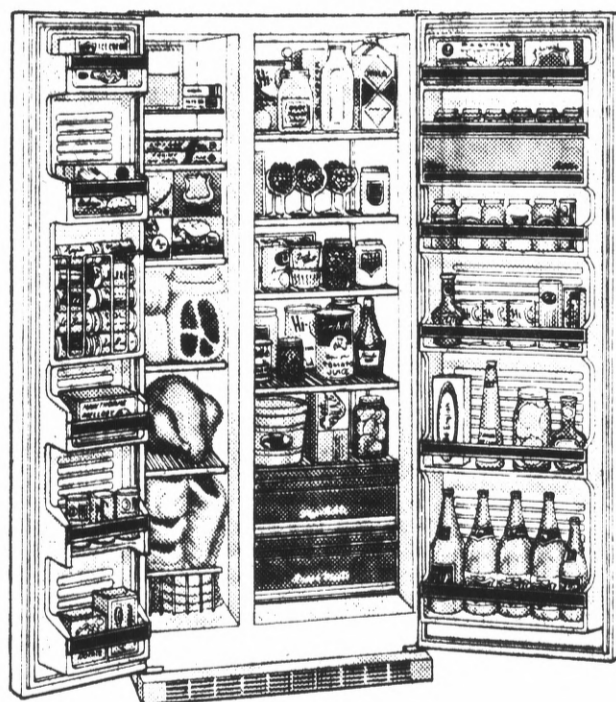

Long Speaks To Doctors

Assembly candidate and San Bruno Attorney Ted Long will address the Legislative Committee of the San Mateo County Medical Society Thursday.

Long will speak on pending legislation affecting the medical profession and a broad range of medically related subjects, including expansion of Medi-Cal, hospital care and prescription practices.

The meeting will be held at the Medical Society offices and will be attended by physicians from throughout San Mateo County.

Coast Crash Brings $4.1 Million Suit

A suit seeking a total of $4.1 million damages on behalf of a 17-year-old Millbrae girl who was injured in a July 4 Coast side auto crash which claimed the lives of three other teenagers was filed July 18 in Superior Court.

The complaint, filed by Attorney Robert A. Harlem, of San Francisco, asks $3 million general damages and $1 million exemplary damages for Cheryl Tassos, and $100,000 damages for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Tassos, for loss of their daughter's services and cost of medical care and treatment.

Named defendants in the suit are San Bruno Investment Realty, Inc., Barry F. Welch, 19, of Millbrae, driver of the car which struck the vehicle in which Miss Tassos and the three persons killed were riding, and Welch's father, Joseph Welch. The realty firm is identified as owner of the car young Welch was driving.

The suit also alleges that Barry Welch was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

Miss Tassos has been hospitalized since the accident, which occurred on Cabrillo Highway in Half Moon Bay, and only recently emerged from a coma, her attorney reported.

Two suits seeking $500,000 damages each were filed in Superior Court last week by the families of two of the teen-agers killed in the crash — Darleen Flinn, 16, and Benjamin Williams, 18 — also naming the Welches and the realty firm as defendants.

Bill Reifschneider, founder-operator of the San Bruno Maple Shop, 426 El Camino, San Bruno, has announced his retirement from the retail furniture business. The firm started by leasing a vacant Safeway store building in July, 1953. During the next five years, store size was increased twice. Reifschneider has been aided in the operation of the home furnishings business during the past 10 years by his nephew, Judd Reifschneider, and his brother, Arthur, now retired and living in San Luis Obispo.

Millbrae OK's Election on Buying Site

The Millbrae City Council decided July 18 to proceed with plans to place on the November general election ballot a measure on whether or not the city should purchase 22 acres of church-owned land.

Mayor Bernard Esser said the proper process would be to put the proposal to the people in the form of a bond issue.

The city has been studying the property for some time in an attempt to decide future uses—whether for private development or public use.

The Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco owns the parcel, located on the west side of Magnolia Avenue near Helen Drive.

The council also directed city officials to contact the State Public Utilities Commission and Southern Pacific Railroad to discuss plans to widen Millbrae Avenue where it crosses the railroad tracks.

S.S.F. Firm Buys Pan Am Spare Parts

Banner Aircraft International, of South San Francisco, has purchased the entire DC-8 transport spare parts inventory from Pan American World Airways.

The announcement was made Thursday by Banner Industries Inc., the parent company, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Banner Aircraft's administrative headquarters are at 160 Beacon Street, South San Francisco.

The inventory of 20,000 parts range from aircraft and engine components to miscellaneous hardware.

Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

Banner Aircraft International will transfer the CD-8 spares to a warehouse leased from Pan Am in Miami and during the transition period Pan Am will process all inquiries and purchase orders on behalf of the aircraft firm. The spare parts are already in Miami.

Barry Murphy, manager of Banner's DC-8 spares, said prices and discounts outlined in the Pan Am DC-1 excess materials sales catalog will be honored.

Pan Am was the first airline in the world to sign a contract for the Douglas DC-8 and at one time operated a fleet of 20. All have been sold to other carriers, the last one in May of 1971.

Banner Aircraft International markets and distributes replacement parts for a variety of commercial aircraft ranging from jet engines to communications and navigation equipment.

Banner Industries, the parent company, is a major producer and supplier of aircraft tires for both commercial and military aircraft through its recently acquired Thompson aircraft tire subsidiary.

THE GREGORY WATSONS (Linda Straub)

Gregory Watson Weds Miss Straub

The Adobe Creek Lodge in Los Altos Hills was the locale for the recent marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Lawrence Watson (Linda Diane Straub) who honeymooned in Disneyland and Las Vegas. They are now living in El Granada.

The new Mrs. Watson is the daughter of Albert Straub of San Mateo. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Watson of San Bruno.

For her wedding, Linda wore a long white A-line gown styled with full chiffon sleeves and a scoop neckline edged in lace. Long white chiffon gowns overlaid with daisies were worn by her attendants.

Rhonda Straub, her sister's maid of honor, wore a dress with hot pink highlights. Shades of orange predominated the gowns worn by the secondary attendants, Christine Watson (Linda Diane Straub) and Nancy Watson, sisters of the bridegroom. Flower girl duties were performed by Lisa Remsing of San Francisco who wore a long yellow cotton frock with white daisy trim.

Sid Hymes stood with Gregory as best man and guests were seated by Gene Golovic and Mike Marzetta.

Linda is an alumna of Hillsdale High School and the College of San Mateo. She is now employed as a secretary. Her husband studied at Crestmoor High School and City College of San Francisco. He works in San Francisco.

Louanne Heath

Mrs. Ivyle Lederer of Westlake has returned from several days in the state's southern sector where she visited old friends and attended the Music Teachers Association's annual convention.

Mrs. Lederer was the official delegate from the Golden Gate branch of the association and she attended the sessions which were held in the Sheraton Universal Hotel in Universal City.

MRS. RUDY ENBERG reports that the directors of the 17 chapters of the Friends Outside, and the four men employed by that organization to work inside the jails and prisons of the state were invited to meet for a luncheon and tour of Soledad prison by the State Board and by Rosemary Goodenough, the founder and executive director of the organization.

Box lunches were prepared by Mrs. Joan Babcock, director of the Monterey-Salinas chapter.

"It was an exciting day to know that we are all in this together with hundreds of volunteers at home reaching out with friendship to help the families of men and women in jail and prison.

"While other people anxious for prison reform hold conferences and seminars or are working for better legislation, Friends Outside devotes its energies to changing attitudes of inmates, families, the community and prison administration," said Mrs. Enberg.

MEMBERS OF the Westlake Senior Citizens club are reminded that next Wednesday's meeting will be held in the new clubroom in the Our Lady of Mercy Parish school.

Seniors will be holding their last gathering in the Westlake community Baptist Church today beginning at 10 a.m., according to Mrs. Frank Specht, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Helen Harbuck will be presiding today as she begins her second term as president of the club.

A REMINDER to all the county's over-fifty groups comes from Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan of the Fifty Plus Club in Pacifica.

August 4 is Senior Citizens day at the San Mateo County Fair and there will be a variety of activities for all the seniors attending.

The day's agenda will include a program, a talent contest and a picnic lunch.

Clinton Steele Sr. will represent the Pacificans in the talent segment of the program.

THE BRYAN BOONSTRAS (Pam Madigan)

Hawaiian Islands Is First Address

The Hawaiian Islands, where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Navy, is the first address for Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Boonstra (Pam Madigan) who exchanged vows at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City. A reception followed at the Forest Hill Club House.

The new Mrs. Boonstra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Lloyd T. Madigan of Daly City. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Boonstra of Orange City, Iowa.

Linda Madigan served as her sister's honor attendant and Gayle and Lisa Boonstra, Bryan's sisters, shared secondary attendants' duties with Mary Madigan, another sister of the bride's, Julie Madigan and Sue Boonstra.

Bob Boonstra stood with his brother as best man and guests were seated by Mark Lyons, Michael Ontonini and Michael Madigan, Pam's brother.

After greeting guests, the newlyweds departed for a wedding tour of California resort areas.

Mercy High School and California State University at San Francisco are the bride's alma maters. Her husband is an alumnus of Northwestern University.

Grace Cathedral Setting for Rites

Grace Cathedral in San Francisco was the setting for the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. James Granville Martin Jr. who honeymooned in Las Vegas and Yosemite and are now living in Burlingame.

The newlyweds both teach in the San Bruno Park School District.

The bride is the former Candace Elizabeth Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richardson Hill of Burlingame and New Orleans. The late Mr. and Mrs. James Granville Martin Sr. of Tupelo, Miss. are the bridegroom's parents.

Candy recited her vows in a white silk organza gown appliqued with Venise lace floral patterns. With her bouquet, she carried a lace handkerchief traditionally handed down in her family from generation to generation.

Setting the style of dress for the bridal party was Mrs. Richard Wayne Carlson of Hillsborough, the matron of honor for her sister, who wore a white floor length dress with green trim. Other attendants were Mrs. Roderic Charles Tosselli of South San Francisco, Brett Elizabeth Carlson, the bride's niece; Diane Marie Ashford, the bridegroom's niece, and Megan Ingrid Carlson, who was the flower girl for her aunt's wedding.

Immediately following the rites, the couple greeted well wishers at a reception at the Mark Hopkins.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

This seems a good day to make a heavenly dessert... Angel Pie. A Canadian cousin, Mrs. Sally Gee, sent it to me and I pass it on to you; it's light, frothy and delicious.

ANGEL PIE

SHELL

- 4 egg whites
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 cup sugar

Beat four egg whites until foamy, add the half teaspoon cream of tartar and gradually add one cup sugar, a tablespoon at a time, beating as you add. Beat until stiff. Spoon into 9-inch pie pan and bake at 275 degrees for one hour. Cool.

FILLING

- 4 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 3 Tablespoons lemon juice (usually one lemon will do)
- 1/2 pint whipping cream

Beat the four egg yolks with the half cup sugar, add three teaspoons lemon rind and three tablespoons lemon juice. Cook in top of double boiler until thick. Cool. Whip the half pint cream and fold into the completely cooled lemon mixture. Spoon into shell.

Cover with waxed paper and place in refrigerator. (Place 4 toothpicks in pie before covering with waxed paper so paper does not touch top of pie.) Chill for several hours or overnight.

I RECENTLY found a clipping for some cookies that had been resting in my "try-someday" folder. These cookies are a delight to make, using biscuit mix as their base.

MAGIC MOCHA DROPS

- 4 Tablespoons margarine
- 3/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 and one-third cups biscuit mix
- 1 teaspoon instant coffee powder

Beat together the four tablespoons margarine, three-fourths cup brown sugar and egg; stir in the one and one-thirds cup biscuit mix and one teaspoon coffee powder. Drop from rounded teaspoons onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 8 to 10 minutes. Cool and frost with chocolate frosting and place half a walnut on each cookie. Makes 2 to 2 1/2 dozen.

Frosting

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 2 cups sifted powdered sugar
- 1 square unsweetened chocolate melted
- 1 Tablespoon milk
- Dash of salt
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Cream the fourth cup margarine, add the two cups powdered sugar gradually. Stir in the one square melted chocolate, one tablespoon milk, dash of salt and half teaspoon vanilla. Beat well.

And yet another use for biscuit mix in this hamburger pie.

CHEESE CRUSTED HAMBURGER PIE

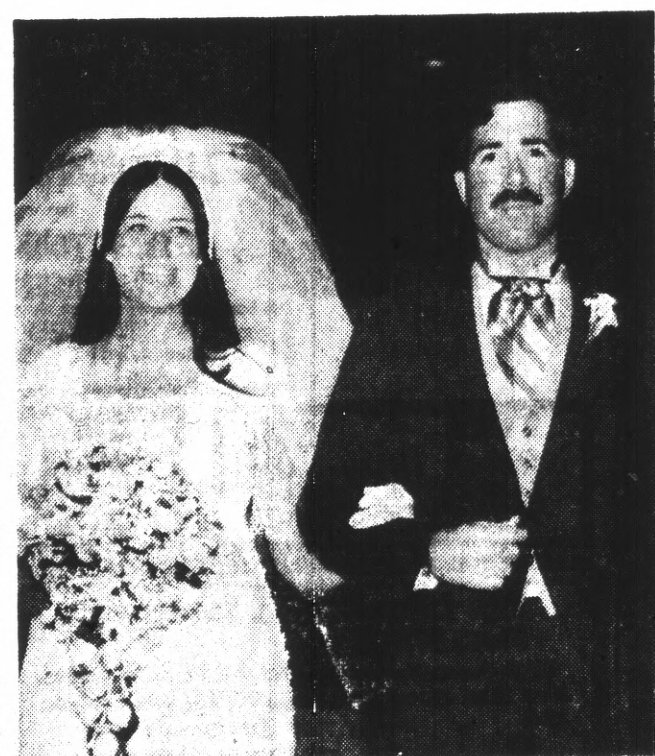

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/4 cups tomato juice (one No. 2 can)
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Brown the one pound of meat lightly in skillet, add the one-eighth teaspoon garlic powder, fourth cup chopped green pepper and cook until pepper is tender. Stir in the fourth cup flour and teaspoon salt. Add the two and one-fourth cups tomato juice, cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in the half cup celery and two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce. Pour into 8-inch square baking dish. Top with biscuit topping:

- 1 cup biscuit mix
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 cup grated American cheese

Combine the one cup biscuit mix and half cup grated cheese; stir in the fourth cup water. Roll out between two sheets wax paper and fit over meat filling.

Bake in 400-degree oven about 30 minutes.

Walking down the aisle at All Souls Church in South San Francisco where they were married are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Davis (Marilyn Dianna Dietrich) who honeymooned in Mexico City. Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred John Dietrich of South San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Davis of Orland. (Faulkner Photo)

San Mateo County's Marine reserves — the 3rd Battalion, 23rd Marine Regiment—left San Bruno by bus and tactical vehicle convoys Saturday for two weeks' annual training duty at Camp Pendleton.

Lt. Col. P. D. Reissner of Foster City, inspector-instructor of the unit, said it will be joined by other Bay Area Marine units to conduct a full-scale helicopter-borne and amphibious training exercise.

The field exercise is the first phase of a five-year training plan that will culminate in a large amphibious exercise at Camp Pendleton in 1976.

All the exercises are designed to improve the Reserve's ability as part of the Marine Corps force in readiness, Reissner said.

Eviction Try Climaxes in A Shooting

Gino A. Gauchi, 26, 124 Santa Dmonga Avenue, San Bruno was arrested on Sunday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon after a 15-year-old Crestmoor summer school student was shot in an incident at Gauchi's home.

Police said Gauchi had decided to evict some half-dozen youths who had been rooming at his home. While they were gone, he moved their belongings out.

Upon returning, the youths were insistent upon getting back into their old home, police reported.

"If you don't quit that pounding," he is alleged to have warned them, "I'm going to shoot through the door."

He then is alleged to have picked up his rifle and fired through the door. One bullet apparently ricocheted and struck David M. Callison, who regularly lives in Milpitas. The wound was not believed serious.

Summer Classes Ending in Millbrae

One of Millbrae's most successful summer school sessions draws to a close this week, having provided a variety of learning experiences for some 1100 children.

Classes were held at Glen Oaks, Highlands and Taylor schools, with bus service available.

"We are gratified by the response to the programs innovated this year," says District Supt. Edward J. Muehlhausen, "and will utilize some of them as guidelines for next summer."

"Exploring Our Natural Environment," a new offering presented in cooperation with the San Mateo County Junior Museum, included field trips with the study of the seashore, marine and plant life, plus that of birds, mammals, amphibians, reptiles and anthropods.

Another first was the study of oceanography, for grades four through seven, in which the importance of the sea as a resource was discussed, in its relationship to man's welfare. Students chose specific topics on which to base their themes.

A program was also inaugurated, about a quarter of the budgeted for children who had just completed kindergarten.

Glen Oaks Principal Harold Fritz was coordinator for the summer program, and Spring Valley teacher Leo Tarantino principal.

Bi-lingual, educationally handicapped and mentally gifted pupils participated in summer school, and shared some of their classes with other students.

In the cooking classes, where savory pizza muffins, pineapple upside down cakes and other delicacies were being turned out, about a quarter of the budgeted chefs were boys.

Boys were also intent over their machines in the typing class, though none braved the sewing room.

The outdoor education program included a week's stay at Camp Loma Mar, near La Honda.

In all classes, the teacher-pupil ratio was kept as small as possible, so that children could reap maximum benefits from their summer school experience.

Pacifica Man Killed in Auto Crash

A 23-year-old Pacifican died on Monday when the car in which he was a passenger careened into a utility pole on Sharp Park Road.

Pacifica police identified the victim as Ronald E. Jones. Police said he was dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, at 1:28 a.m.

He was in a vehicle driven by Phillip N. Duncan, also 23, of Daly City. Duncan was listed by Mary's Help Hospital sources as in "satisfactory" condition with internal injuries.

The Duncan auto, although coming to rest facing east, apparently was westbound on a divided stretch of roadway, about 300 yards east of Gypsy Hill Road, according to authorities.

Police said the car failed to negotiate a curve, went out of control and broadsided into the pole.

Duncan got out of the car, but Jones was pinned inside. The impact smashed in the right door. Jones' legs were wedged between the door and the firewall. His torso was against the steering wheel and the driver's seat, according to firemen, who cut through the right door to reach Jones.

The utility pole did not snap.

Drug Store Mgr. Held For Assault

Robert G. Talbert, 36, of 615 Broadway Avenue, Millbrae, was arrested late Saturday on an assault with a deadly weapon charge by two off duty policemen in South San Francisco.

Talbert, listed on county jail booking sheets as a drug store manager, was released on his own recognizance, according to authorities.

South San Francisco police said Talbert was taken into custody outside Neal's Pub at 2224 Westborough Boulevard by San Mateo County Deputy Sheriff Roy McKircher and San Francisco Officer Peter Gamino.

The police alleged that Talbert, after an argument, knocked down and kicked Morris William, 56, of Daly City.

Drop Bookie Charges Here

Bookmaking charges against several Peninsula residents who were arrested by the FBI, were dismissed Thursday by Judge David R. Urdan of U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

The five against whom charges were dismissed are Stephen P. Cosenza, 39, Sunnyvale; Mrs. Mary Cosenza, 52, Millbrae; John S. Sachino, 63, Menlo Park; Albert D. Rosevear, 49, Foster City; and Dominic A. Montalbono, 37, of Sunnyvale.

Charges were not dropped against two other persons, however, who were arrested by the FBI on the same charges. They are Armando Cosenza, 53, and Attilio J. Spagnuolo, 41, both of Millbrae.

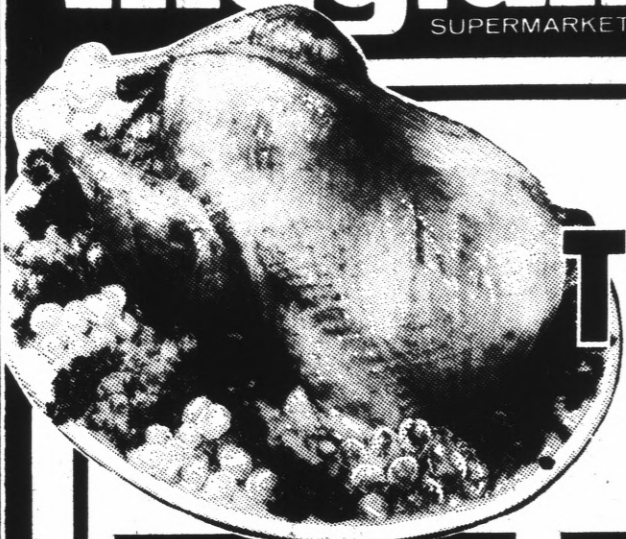

All seven were originally charged in a federal complaint with "conducting, financing, managing, supervising, directing, and owning an illegal gambling business." The business was alleged by the FBI to be an extensive bookmaking operation.

Millbrae Man Heads Confab

The 11 Bay Area units of B'nai B'rith, the nationwide Jewish service organization, will be represented by more than 60 delegates at a special Western District convention to be held at Seattle starting Saturday.

According to Milton Jacobs of Millbrae, president of the 10-state western district lodge, the focus of the Seattle meeting will be a series of "issue and action oriented" workshop sessions on all major aspects of B'nai B'rith program and community services. Jacobs will preside over the sessions of the five-day meeting.

Five Bruno Youths Held in Burglar Net

Further arrests have brought to five the number of teen-age boys now being charged with being part of a ring burglarizing homes of vacationers in the hillside neighborhoods of San Bruno.

One youth was being charged with conspiracy. Police accuse him of supplying the names to the other boys of those leaving on vacation. Police Detective Jerry Canning said that the boy was promised a cut in the loot but received nothing.

"He was played for a sucker," Canning said. That boy was released to the custody of his parents, pending further action; the other four were sent to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

The boys range in age from 14 to 17. In one burglary, on Inyo Court, the boys got three television sets. In another home, on Muirfield Circle, a sterling silver tea serving set was stolen.

None of the loot has been recovered, police say, and they are seeking the fence that they are certain was involved.

Police first became suspicious of a ring operating when they noticed that homes were being invariably burglarized the day after the owners left on vacation. Intense police work culminated in a stakeout Tuesday night at a home where police believed the ring met. They followed a car with four teen-agers in it through the Pacific Heights-Portola Highlands area.

They lost it briefly once, and then, when they found it, only two boys were in the car. Police turned their car around and found two boys walking away from a fence of a Sneath Lane home. One was seen throwing something in the bushes. Upon stopping them, police found two pairs of gloves, a flashlight and a two-foot screw driver. They were booked for violation of probation and possession of burglar tools.

Next day, the other three boys were arrested. Police said that one boy had been released from Camp Glenwood, the county juvenile facility near La Honda, just three weeks ago. Most of the youths live in the Monte Verde district, an area of above-average homes. The boys would follow a pattern of ringing the doorbell of a home they wanted to burglarize; if no one answered they would go to work.

Theft Arrest In Brisbane

Brisbane police Thursday arrested a man after they allegedly caught him trying to siphon gasoline out of a parked car in an area that has been the scene of several similar incidents in recent weeks.

Police arrested Claude Man- or, 23, of Kings Road. A later search of the man disclosed a small quantity of marijuana on his person, police said.

He was booked into the county jail at Redwood City on six charges, including possession of marijuana, attempted petty theft, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest.

Plain Talk about Beef Labeling...

What's in a name? With some beef cuts, a "name" could cost from 10% to 15% more per pound! For example, you could easily pay 20c a pound more for a "His and Her Steak" than it would cost if it were labeled as T-Bone or Porterhouse Steak. At some markets beef cuts are given different names from the standard industry-used names, and then are offered at higher prices. You may have seen a number of them labeled as Market Steak, Butterfly Steak, Family Steak, Bar-B-Q Steak, Butter Steak, Imperial Broil Steak, Sandwich Steak, etc. When you check the prices, you may well discover that they are considerably higher than they would be if these cuts were packaged under their standard name.

At Lucky, no matter what cut of meat you buy, you can be assured of honest labeling and no fancy names. Our labels tell you clearly the cut of meat, the price per pound and the total cost of the package.

And you can count on every cut being tender, juicy and flavorful or Lucky will gladly refund every penny of the purchase price.

Major Fire Sweeps Bruno Mountain

A grass fire which started near Randolph and Belmont avenues in South San Francisco on Friday at 6:30 p.m. burned up the side of San Bruno mountain, jumped a fire trail and headed over the crest of the mountain towards Brisbane before it was controlled by firemen from the State Division of Forestry in a two-hour battle.

Firemen reported the fire covered some 50 to 60 acres, but no structures were threatened. It was the thirty-first fire on the mountain this year. Last year there were only 31 fires on the mountain during the entire season.

Firemen said 10 to 15 mile per hour gusts of wind pushed flames through 25 acres of grass within the first 10 minutes.

Although fire crews were called from as far away as Saratoga and Pescadero, there were cancelled and returned to their stations when it was determined the fire could be brought under control from the state fire station west of Belmont.

'Officer Bill' Saves Lives

The tiny voice at the other end of the line asked: "Is Officer Bill there please?"

"This is officer Bill speaking," Daly City policeman Jim Mediara quickly replied.

"My mommy took some medicine and now she is very sick and I can't wake her up," the voice of a small girl informed Mediara.

Without alarming the child, the veteran policeman was able to get her address and name.

And he instructed the child to "Open the front door when Officer Bill arrives."

There is little doubt in the mind of police captain David Hansen that "Officer Bill," posing as officers Chris Petersen and Mediara for that one day in the life of that little girl, saved a life.

"Officer Bill" is any and all policemen.

It is part of a continuing program in many San Mateo County communities aimed at teaching children that police are their friends and want to help them.

Children up to the third school grade are told how to call a policeman when they need help.

Thanks to "Officer Bill" and the program, the six-year-old caller's mother is alive today.

3 Hurt in Bruno Crash

Three young people were injured and the driver of their car is being charged with felony drunk driving as a result of a one-car wreck in the Portola Highlands neighborhood of San Bruno.

Injured were Swante E. Lindquist of Mariposa, Allen S. Samora, 17, 251 Lassen Drive, San Bruno, and Richard C. Jameson, 17, of Redwood City.

Booked on the drunk driving charge was driver John Carboch, 18, of Redwood City, a student of Sequoia High School, 1-24 3 Hurt No. Sec.

According to police, Carboch was apparently careening around the curves of upper Sneath Lane when he struck a fire hydrant and flipped over. He is due to appear in Northern Judicial Court August 4.

SAN RAFAEL — Edwin M. Gerdes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Gerdes, 119 Verano Drive, South San Francisco, is participating in a U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at Hamilton AFB.

During the encampment, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine career opportunities in which they might wish to serve as officers. Other highlights include survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, small arms training and visits to other Air Force bases.

Cadet Gerdes is a member of the AFROTC unit at San Francisco State College.

U.S. Air Force Captain Willard C. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Peterson, 1130 Glenview Drive, San Bruno, has received the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service while engaged in military operations against Viet Cong forces.

Captain Peterson was cited for outstanding duty performance as chief of the workload control branch of the 485th Electronics Installation Squadron at Cam Ranh Bay AB, Vietnam. He was honored in ceremonies at Korat Royal Thai AFB, Thailand.

Supervisors Approve Pescadero Plan

A general development concept for Pescadero Creek Park, including it as a part of a 10,000 acre park area comprising the county's Memorial Park and Portola State Park, was approved July 18 by the County Board of Supervisors.

County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr. said that development of Pescadero Creek Park will allow the reduction of facilities in Memorial Park and relocation of overnight camping and daytime picnic areas to provide a "regeneration program" to improve the natural environment of redwood groves in Memorial Park.

Popularity of Memorial Park (230,000 visitors in 1971) has taken its toll in damage to trees and ground cover, Brook reported.

Essential, he said, is the creation of a corridor about 200 feet in width to connect Memorial Park with Pescadero Creek Park and to provide access from Pescadero Road. The corridor, Brook stated, will be wide enough to accommodate a roadway, a trail, bike and equestrian paths, yet to maintain a "park atmosphere."

The parks and recreation director said that the corridor had been narrowed from a much larger width concept to minimize intrusion on camp property of the American Baptist Churches of the West.

Harry Dean Jr., landscape architect for the Parks and Recreation Department, predicted creation of a "fabulous system of trails," including routes for horses and bicycles, to connect the three parks.

Although detailed planning still is in the future, Dean predicted a capacity of 800 to 900 campsites and 1,000 to 1,500 day use areas.

One of the conjectures, he said, would be to provide auto access from the westerly end through Memorial Park and from the east through Portola State Park, with the huge central area of Pescadero Creek Park remaining accessible only by foot, bicycle or horse.

Scotty Campbell's King Henry Prime Rib Cuts

The walls of Scotty Campbell's restaurant are sheathed with tartan, and ciannish oddments and antiques are everywhere to be found. Guests experience a nostalgic return to a gracious past at this award-winning restaurant in Redwood City, where every dining room nicety is observed. The prime rib is juicy, served King Henry style or English cut; steaks range from Top Sirloin, New York cut and Filet Mignon to Chateaubriand for Two — all choice beef. Another really delicious treat is Lobster Tail. All entrees are accompanied by a huge baked potato and plenty of creamy butter. . . . The menu at A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf is unusually extensive, offering numerous salads and entrees for luncheon and dinner. If your taste and waist agree, there are many tempting dishes such as Spaghetti and Crab (spaghetti with crab in Italian sauce, served in casserole topped with canape of Parmesan cheese). Recommended wine: Penot Noir. A complete selection of seafood, fowl and choice meats complements the many Italian creations. . . . Dimitrios Fanopoulos, a man who obviously puts everything he has into an enterprise, says there are no gimmicks about his Le Bistrot Rove restaurant in San Mateo. It is predicated on good food and excellent service. Each table in this intimate continental restaurant is covered with a red tablecloth and a vase with a fresh-picked flower.

Fried Chicken "All You Can Eat"

Breakfast, lunch and dinner have equal appeal at Bickford's Original Pancake & Family Fare, located across from Hillsdale Shopping Center. Pancakes are tender as down — no secrets — other than having perfectionists in the kitchen. There is also the Daily Feature to be enjoyed: Farm-Fried Chicken "All you can eat" served with cranberry sauce, cole slaw, French fries and hot biscuits. And all this is now available daily from 7 a.m. til Midnight: Fridays and Saturdays til 1 p.m. . . . A relaxed "come as you are" atmosphere prevails throughout the Garden Restaurant complex at San Bruno's Tanforan Park. Eight different restaurants are on the premises, insuring a lunch, dinner or snack that will please every member of your family. After your meal, step over to Swensen's Ice Cream for a fitting dessert. . . . It's business as usual for Dave Rasmussen's Shadows of San Mateo, with one exception. A great deal of hammering and sawing is taking place adjacent to the restaurant, and the secretive Rasmussen just smiles when asked what's going on. More on this activity at a later date.

S.M. City Faces Highest Budget And Tax Rate

By VERA GRAHAM

San Mateo City taxpayers will be faced with the highest budget and tax rate in the community's history when the operational outlay is adopted next month. The budget will total $12,015,562, an increase of $773,000 or 6.8 percent over last year. And the taxpayers will be paying for it in 1972-73 with an alltime high record rate of $2.21, exceeded only by Pacifica's $2.29 tax rate. San Mateo's general tax rate will be up 23 cents.

Most of the increase, explains San Mateo Mayor John J. Murray, is the result of the financing of the capital improvement program, expansion of the park system, an increase in the cost of living, plus anticipated salary increases.

"That's what the people want and keep demanding," the mayor says.

At this point Councilman John F. Condon sharply disagreed and refused to give up his one-man fight to cut the budget and the tax rate. He says he hasn't heard the outcry for increased services.

What he does say is, "Coupled with this tax rate increase is the increase in the assessment of a large percentage of the homes and other properties in this city. When the full impact of the increase in both the tax rate and the assessments hit the people of San Mateo, there will be a howl."

"All during the budget hearings I have heard from some of my colleagues that 'the people want these services and are willing to pay for them.' I am not convinced that the average citizen wishes this much in the way of parks, libraries, recreation and special services, but until the council has been convinced otherwise these budgets and these taxes are going to continue climbing."

Last year, when Condon was mayor, the council held the budgetary increase to only $7,000 and the tax rate remained unchanged.

Condon's determination to fight expenditures has not made him the most popular figure in the city hall, nor among his colleagues on the council.

Mayor Murray comments, "There's a difference between economy and penuriousness. When one of my colleagues complains about spending $4,000 to $4800 a year per acre for park maintenance and on that basis opposes expansion of the city's park system, that's like having a library without books."

"Every item in the Capital Improvement budget except for the corporation yard is in direct response to public demand

Condon says, "Unless we curb government spending, more people upon reaching retirement won't be able to afford to live in the homes they have purchased."

Charles Roumasset, Pacific regional director of the department, said the total index here is now at 124.3 over the 1967 base of 100. This means it takes $12.43 now to buy what $10 did in 1967.

Consumer prices nationally rose only two tenths of one percent in the same period.

Food, housing, transportation, health and recreation costs all rose between March and June, with only clothing costs showing a slight drop.

Food prices rose 1.2 percent over the quarter with higher prices for fresh fruits and vegetables blamed for the increase. Housing costs here jumped 1.8 percent, with the sharpest rise—2.6 percent—coming in the homeowner's index. The rise is attributed mainly to higher taxes, insurance and mortgage interest rates and other costs associated with home buying.

Predicted To Be Model School

The new superintendent of the San Mateo City School District has predicted that, within two years, Audubon School in Foster City will be a model school for the growing island community.

Dr. David Thomas said he and his administration have already begun to make substantial changes in the operation and personnel of the school. A major switch has been the appointment of a new principal. Thomas, on the job in San Mateo for less than two months, has recruited a friend of his from Miami to take over the head job at Audubon. He is Julian Crocker, 30, a graduate of Vanderbilt and Harvard universities.

Thomas said Crocker is well suited for the Audubon principalship because he is knowledgeable in the area of the open classroom concept, the plan around which Audubon originally was built.

Crocker, whose appointment was approved last week by the district's board of trustees, is the author of a case study on collective negotiations. He was a coordinator of a teacher training project in an innovative social studies curriculum and he was the principal of a school involved in a federally funded project involving differentiated staffing.

Crocker, married and the father of one child, was principal of Norwood Elementary School in Miami from 1969 to this past school year.

He is the author of a paper published in the Urban Review titled, "Principals Under Pressure."

He will replace Dolores Jackson, the previous principal. Her leadership had been questioned one more than one public occasion and the school's parents were split on a number of issues, most of them relating to

Jury Frees R.C. Suspect

A Superior Court jury found Edgar Lockett, 21, of Redwood City, not guilty of armed robbery and attempted murder Friday in the holdup shooting of a Catholic priest last February 18 in the parking lot of the Bank of America's East Palo Alto branch on University Avenue.

The verdict followed 2½ hours of deliberation after a five-day trial before District Court of Appeal Justice Robert F. Kane, who is sitting this month as a visiting judge in San Mateo County.

Lockett, a recently discharged Air Force veteran, was defended by attorney Zerne Haning, of San Carlos, who said that Lockett was visiting at a friend's apartment at the time of the robbery. There also was no positive identification of Lockett as the holdup suspect.

The victim of the robbery, the Rev. Anthony Gamble, 58, was not able to identify Lockett as the man who robbed him of $73 cash and a number of checks, then fired a shot at him, grazing his head.

Firm Moves

Graphic and Plate Specialties Inc. has moved from Belmont to a new location at 160 Industrial Way, San Carlos. Founder and president Don McNamara said the 5,300 square foot facility houses a complete graphic arts center for the company, which he said had sales of $24,000 in its first year starting in November, 1966 and sales of $174,000 for the fiscal year ending in 1972.

MARINE DUTY

EL TORO — Marine Cpl. Stephen C. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith of 436 Samson Street, Redwood City, has reported for duty at Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro.

A 1970 graduate of Sequoia Union High School, Redwood City, he joined the Marine Corps in August, 1970.

Barbara Bladen
European Debut
For 'The Cage'

Seven years after the prison drama "The Cage" had its premiere outside of San Quentin where it was written by Rick Cluchey, it is still touring college campuses and is preparing for its European debut.

What is its lasting power and impact, the reason it will return to the Peninsula with an all new ex-convict cast, for the third consecutive year to play July 28 and 29 at College of San Mateo's Little Theater.

Author Cluchey who has been on parole for five years and his partner in the Barbwire Theater, Kenneth Whelan a former parolee offered these reflections:

"Colleges continue to book the play because of its relevancy to the political movement. There wouldn't be the same quality of interest about prisons if there weren't dramatic political figures involved, like George Jackson," Whelan observed.

"We obviously prepared lots of people in the years preceding Attica and the events at San Quentin with performances across the nation. We went through some pretty bad things in history like what happened in the fifties at Jackson prison in Michigan but it left no impression.

"The history of riots and disturbances in prisons is as old as prisons themselves but the public wasn't aware. That problem wasn't tied to the social fabric.

"I DON'T THINK kids are motivated to champion a cause they don't identify with but now young people feel victimized by the system starting with the regents of their colleges. We brought in "The Cage" when they were becoming politically aware."

Cluchey contends his play is "not a reformist appeal for unfortunate criminals" but labels it "political in its dramatic analysis of prisons."

"My play arose out of my San Quentin experience following the death of Caryl Chessman. Now there is a new emphasis on uncovering the power structure and the dynamics of society. Fifteen years ago people didn't analyze the religious, judicial, social or corporate structure.

"It's true of all drama, that something happens between stage and audience. A play has more impact than a TV show because it is live. Those aren't actors playing roles but men who have actually lived the experience they are dramatizing.

"THE PLAY is still raising consciousness because the audience is moved, affected, roused, spiritually lifted and emotionally involved by the stage event.

"Originally people came out of curiosity, usually of a morbid nature because we were ex-convicts. Now many of those same people have been inside prisons and see us as supporting the bringing about of constructive change.

"We've removed the slogan 'Revolutionary Theater' from our posters because the image of a revolutionary is becoming negative, a blurred image among students. They're not looking for labels but action against the existing machinery while at the same time using it.

"We're only supporting what students are being taught, where books are assigned to be read. There is a growing disillusionment with loud, heated types. By working to bring about change in our own way, dramatically, to make people directly aware in a way they won't easily forget, this increases chances of something concretely being done."

Whelan added that "there is no way of knowing how audiences have been affected, despite consistently rave reviews, high praise from college administrators and standing ovations. There are instances where prison reform study groups have evolved but doing one night stands on a different campus every night doesn't allow for flow of information."

Cluchey concludes with the observation that "radical students are more moved towards change than jokers who are still into football. Athletes are not the ones demonstrating. They don't show up too much in our audiences."

THE PLAY'S RELEVANCY and dramatic impact has spread beyond the American scene. A pirate company of non ex-convicts has just performed "The Cage" in Israel, unbeknownst to its author.

IT ISN'T necessary to know the Gospel According to St. Matthew in order to enjoy the festive Bible celebration, "Godspell" at the Geary Theater. All one needs is an open mind and a willingness to be entertained.

In an age where nudity and sick humor attract mass audiences, this new concept in joyful sharing of God's word through contemporary media (rock music) is more than refreshing. It is enlightening, provocative and inventive.

The original cast album that preceded the show's opening in eight American cities (no company tours, it opens and closes in each city) in London, Paris and Canada doesn't do the show justice. I can't imagine a better company anywhere than the one assembled and directed locally by its 23-year-old directress Nina Faso. The ingratiating charm and freshness of the ten performers who strut, cavort, skip, dance, gambole, and sing through two acts of pantomime, story-telling, play-acting and effectively satirizing bridges the generation gap.

With Pentecostal fervor, the show has a carnival spirit, an almost childlike innocence (not childish) as a black Saviour in a Superman T-shirt and multi-colored coveralls gathers his flock about him fun and games. Jesus as a clown or harlequin who takes on the sorrows of the world is not a new literary device. Here it's employed to make Him, as does "Jesus Christ Superstar" more human and such a fun loving guy anyone would want to follow him.

The musical is not as structured or theatrical as "Superstar." It flows more easily and has a breezy happy glow. You find yourself swept up by its exuberance, its evangelism that makes embracing religion a less awesome and boring duty or habit, focusing instead on the ecumenical spirit that unifies everyone in the theater.

Stephen Schwartz's lively tunes bear careful listening. To have read the lyrics from the original jacket album is to increase one's appreciation of the show twofold. Rock is only one musical feature since the score contains such stylistic elements as ragtime, two-beat (Judas and Jesus do a soft-shoe dance together), gospel, Gregorian chant and burlesque strut. Each song and routine is self-contained and gives the feeling of a revue as the scruffy rag-a-muffin disciples act like show-off juveniles belonging to neither time nor place.

Surrounded by cyclone fencing to which Jesus is later tied and crucified, the performers use two wooden horses and a plank as an altar for climbing and crawling around, under and over.

IN THE ensemble unity of a well rehearsed and well chosen cast, Stacker Thompson is an appealing Jesus and Lois Foraker, a consummate comedienne whose second act opening number "Turn Back, O Man" is a knockout sensation. One of the show's highlights is provided by Patti Mariano wailing a moving spiritual "Day By Day," a current radio and juke box hit.

Town Hall Ass'n. Opposes BARTD Extension

Editor, The Post

Town Hall Association has been and continues to be opposed to the extension of BART through San Mateo County. In 1969 the voters of San Mateo County rejected, by a vote of almost 5 to 1, the proposal of West Bay Rapid Transit Authority (WBRTA) to establish a rapid district to continue the planning of the extension of BART through San Mateo County. Soon thereafter San Francisco, San Mateo County and BART began making a $557,000 study for the extension of BART from Daly City to the San Francisco Airport. San Mateo County contributed $77,883 in cash to this study. Now we are amazed to learn that San Mateo County and the Metropolitan Transit Commission (MTC) plan to spend $270,000 studying, for the third time, the extension of BART from the San Francisco Airport to Menlo Park. San Mateo County's share of this study will be $90,000.

In view of San Mateo County voter expression against BART in San Mateo County, one can only presume that the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors agreed to this third study as a result of pressure from San Francisco. Also, one can easily predict that the consultants, as have prior consultants, will recommend that the extension be built. The only new general information that will come from the $270,000 study will be an updating of predicted costs.

The major objections to the extension of BART through San Mateo County are three:

1. The tremendous initial cost for so little benefit to San Mateo County, together with eternal red ink operations.

2. The fact that we now have good commuter service between San Francisco and San Jose by Southern Pacific and Greyhound which now operate at about 50 per cent capacity.

3. Santa Clara County has not participated in any of the BART studies.

BART trains as now planned will require more time than the Southern Pacific express trains for the trip from San Francisco to Menlo Park. The BART trains may give more frequent service and will operate from Montgomery Street instead of Third and Townsend. But is this slight improvement worth the many millions of dollars that BART will cost? We think not.

It is clear that San Mateo

County, in the field of rapid transit, continues to attack a regional problem by dealing with only a portion of it. It is also clear that the extension of BART through San Mateo County is primarily for the benefit of San Francisco. But San Francisco wants San Mateo County to bear the cost of such extension. Despite all the propaganda in favor of such extension we think the voters of San Mateo County are intelligent enough to properly judge the pros and cons of the proposal and vote accordingly.

Town Hall Association will discuss more of the pros and cons of the BART extension as the study of the San Mateo Transit Development Project progresses.

RANSOM K. DAVIS,
President, Town Hall Association.

A Zealot of American Center

As a zealot of the American center, and devotee of sound and stable national management and policy, I am deeply concerned about the seeming polarization of American politics. I worry that the zealots of the left and right will, some day, succeed in capturing the mechanics of nominations in both major parties at the same time and in giving the national an impossible choice between impossible men.

Many astute political observers claim that the power of American politics is located in the center of the spectrum. This conclusion must, at the time of general elections, be recognized as true. George McGovern pays its dictates homage as he moves toward people and positions he eschewed a very few days ago.

The general election, however, is the captive of the nominating process (if one assumes continuation of our two party system). For almost three and a half years the clamor of media, candidates and campaigns goes on before the real election begins. And that practice has displayed weaknesses and flaws that threaten representative government.

FOR AS things appear now, the last election could occur in 1976 or soon thereafter. In such a contest each party would lean heavily toward the outside of the spectrum and nominate men whose philosophical credentials were substantial and whose prospects of managing the nation were minimal.

We seem headed toward such a dilemma, and may only be able to avoid it by changing the manner in which we nominate candidates. Consider the present mess.

A large number of delegates are still to be won through caucuses, local conventions and the party machinery. In these contests an advantage has always gone to the "winger" whose factional philosophies excite workers and committee members. The supporters of Eugene McCarthy, George Wallace, George McGovern, or Barry Goldwater make good campaign workers — men of the center rarely have this kind of devoted following.

We have, however, lived with the "winger worker" for a long time. The immediate and acute problem arises from the mutation of primary elections in the past few years.

AN INCREASING number of delegates and certainly the greater weight of publicity goes to the winners of primaries. But the public considers these inadequate means of political expression. The citizen reasons that the primary election in his state doesn't really nominate and that a long run of other primaries and a national convention stand between his vote and the final choice. So the electorate uses the crazy quilt pattern of primary elections as a protest. As his ballot decides nothing, the voter throws it away with style — he tells off his government and the establishment. He votes against taxes, and against things as they are, and he does this by attaching his vote to the noisiest moaner and groaner on the ticket.

If it took the average voter a few years to catch onto the orchestration of meaningless primaries, it took politicians a much shorter time to perceive the mood of voters. The present way of doing things will spawn no future men of the center. All advantage goes to the candidate who plays his politics hot, and who understands that being a downer is really an upper. Under these circumstances calm and rational talk won't sell, so no one will try to sell it.

THE RESULTS of this are all bad. McLuhan would immediately recognize that such politics in combination with instant and universal expression in the media are "hot," not "cool." The gripping and complaining cannot help but make the average American even more morose. Finally, the process guarantees the development of some really rotten candidates.

These dangers are quite real, and can only be avoided by giving each voter a sense of importance in the nominating system. Only when this is done will he stop "throw away" voting. This, in turn, can only be accomplished through elimination of the current hodge podge and a return of power to the people through establishment of a national primary election.

Then the politics of dissent will be placed in proper perspective, our chances of selecting sound and stable management will increase, and the nation may even cheer up a bit.

There will be a special program starting at Seramonte Shopping Center at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

A Court of Honor will be formed by Beauty Queens from San Mateo County. At 3 p.m., a motorcade will drive to the Daly City Civic Center where a reception will be held.

Miss California's first stop will be at the Civic Center for 25 minutes Friday, July 28, where a motorcade will be formed to take her throughout the county.

She will arrive at 8:50 and leave at 9:15. Officials said they hoped that the beauty queen will receive a warm reception.

*Paved Streets
Vs. the Dirt*

Give me paved streets instead of country dirt. Give me hot, running water and cold drinks and food cooked in a kitchen instead of over a bonfire. Give me easy chairs and spring-filled mattresses and rugs on the floor. When I must go camping let me not stray too far from civilization.

For campers with such sentiments the Woodall's Trailering Parks and Campgrounds Directory is a treasure-trove. Here more than 20,000 campgrounds are listed and rated according to how well they serve the camper.

FOR EACH CAMPGROUND the directory lists the frequency of water taps, toilets, lighted areas, tables, fireplaces, and trash receptacles. It also lists the proximity of dumping facilities, laundries, grocery stores, recreation areas, the condition of the roads, and whether or not an attendant is on duty. Added to these are directions from the nearest city and from the nearest highway.

For campgrounds accommodating trailers and automobile campers, all this information is given along with the number of electric and water hookups, hot showers, hard-surface streets, patios, and swimming facilities.

For people with mobile homes camps with all the above information are listed along with facts particularly pertinent to mobile home living, such as the number of shade trees, the size of the stalls, and what can be expected of the management.

FOR CAMPERS from the pup tent class to the double motor home type, Woodall's directory is a must. It can be found in every public library or purchased from a bookstore for $5.95 per year.

For the most inept camper, a classic book is The Ford Treasury of Station Wagon Living, in two volumes. Although published ten years ago, it tells the camper what to take with him if he is heading for the woods for a week, for a day, or for just a picnic.

One chapter is called "Keeping House," and herein such necessary things as stoves, lanterns, and sleeping bags are discussed. Diagrams show the camper how to eat in the car, how to pack his luggage, how to carry air mattresses, and how to entertain the kids in the car especially on rainy days.

Another chapter discusses camp shelters, and gives tips on purchasing them and erecting them and finally, living in them.

For me, the chapter entitled "Wagon Picnics" was the most rewarding in the book. I am eager to try an outdoor buffet or a pukaskawa fish chowder, but I'll settle for a grilled stuffed hot dog or a charcoal flavored pig-in-a-blanket.

FOR A PRACTICAL handbook of delightful meals for campers and sports enthusiasts, there is the Tailgate Cookbook, by April Herbert, with 300 recipes that range from Mulligan stew to coq au vin. A section on frankfurter treats turns burned hotdogs into a delight covered with Bearnaise sauce, accompanied by shrimp salad and avocado boats.

Perhaps the most important book for campers is the 1967 Yearbook of Agriculture. It was written to help all people, campers and city folks alike, do the right things to keep "the mountain top as part of your backyard patio."

Some Dreams Come True?

DREAMS COME TRUE??? Not exactly, but this humble reporter's predictions do! For one thing, several months ago in this column we said President Nixon would retain Veep Agnew. And we repeated that prediction only two weeks ago right here!

On top of that stunning prediction, we valiantly ventured several months ago that the next fire chief in Daly City would be none other than Good Old Keith Schrock. There are other predictions we could have made regarding some of the goings-on in that Daly City school district (Jefferson Elementary), specifically the political mumbo jumbo on the Personnel Board, but we think it does little but upset our well meaning, but apathetic, public who deserve what they get in the way of public servants.

FOR EXAMPLE — The recent 3-2 recommendation to the State Board of Education for appointment of political pro Thomas Noonan to the seat vacated by James Cranna, when the latter was elected to the trusteeship, when that seat became vacant by the resignation of trustee Bill Schumacher, is itself a stunning maneuver that puts Billy Fischer and Boris Spassky to shame. (Got that?) Here's what happened as best we can figure it out: Cranna was appointed at the recommendation of the Board of Trustees to the PB and had about four years to go. Noonan's term was running out and it would have been up to the district's Classified Employees to reappoint him. There's no telling what they they might have done, not being as enlightened as the Board of Trustees.

Heavens-to-Betsy they MIGHT have decided against recommending Noonan to the post in favor of another representative. (This might have also had a detrimental effect on gross sales at Carmel area restaurants?)

TO PRECLUDE such a possibility the Board of Trustees at JESD graciously recommended to the state the appointment of Noonan to Cranna's post, thus leaving the seat to be filled by classified employees. An election was held recently and Albert Modena, a member of Our Lady of Mercy parish, was recommended to the post. Appointment is seen as a matter of routine.

WILL SLOCUM recommends "in the interest of the Little People of America" that mirrors in public restrooms be installed no higher than three feet off the floor. No Hocum with Slocum, the ex-jockey says.

MORE NONSENSE that makes sense: Now that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has hired two women agents will they abolish the nickname of "G-Men" in favor of "G-Person?" We didn't think so either.

WOMEN'S LIB opens all sorts of possibilities in the name-change field: Ferzample instead of "Mailman" perhaps "Post Person." And why not?

A VERY HIGH ranking Daly City official recently tried to have the Chamber of Commerce come forth with a statement that would put Info and Referral Center head Marion Goodwin in a bad light in favor of another person affiliated with that office. Newly installed chamber prez Paul Hupf put the lid on that one right away.

PERSONALLY, THINK IT'S about time the Chamber devoted more time to attracting business to the city and less time to being a political arm of the city devoted to carrying the ball for elected officials on myriad "touchy" issues. It's true the city budgets several thousand dollars a year to the chamber, but who needs those strings attached to the money?

CROSSING GUARDS — Mrs. Daw, of Daly City, wants to know why there are no crossing guards at the corner of Alemany and Park Plaza during the summer months for those tykes attending summer school. We tried to answer her, but no luck. D.C. police (at least SOME of them) say there is a definite need for the guards to protect the dozen-plus children crossing the busy street. And being as the JESD and city can't seem to get together on the matter, the officers and mothers have taken it upon themselves to furnish crossing protection. Good for them and bad for the city-school district, who seem to occupy much of their time worrying whether or not the recreational fund will be funded.

BIG DOINGS over in Brisbane, come Sunday starting at 1 p.m. and lasting 'til 8 p.m. Going to be the biggest prairie steer roast ever held in these United States, folks. Yessirrebob, they're going to roast a 1500 pound (on the hoof) steer. Price will be two bucks per head and don't miss it, heat?

MAN'S BEST FRIEND is his dog-fish. And when a San Francisco man's dogfish got sick and looked like it was heading for that great aquarium in the sky, artist Jim Torlakson was commissioned to paint its portrait. The fish fancier said the fish had been his constant companion for the past two years and he wanted the painting to remember it by. We've heard all sorts of fish stories, and if you've got a fish story to top this one we'd be obliged to hear it.

GOING TO THE DOGS — With Daly City growing at an astounding rate, and shopping centers and apartment houses springing up all over the place, why doesn't that city take advantage of the Canine Corps now being used with great success in other cities throughout the Bay Area — and the State. Dogs have already proven they can "sweep" a large department store in minutes — something that would take a team of policemen several hours to do. D.C. police officials say dogs give police a "bad image."

But it's alright to carry Mace, guns and night sticks?

Letters With No Signature

If there has been one constant gripe since we started this column 10 years ago, it's been that we've never received a critical letter which contained a return address — and darned few that have been signed.

We especially abhor the ones without return addresses, because very often the writers pose questions which demand answers, and which should be answered.

At time the difference between us and the letter writer is merely a misunderstanding and could be cleared up with a simple explanation. We believe in answering letters, and are happy to do it when we know where to send them. We have occasionally answered letters in the column if we thought the questions and answers of general interest. Often, however, the answers would have to be on too personal a level to interest anyone but the writer and yours truly; and, of course, the space to answer letters through the column is limited.

This all adds up to a letter we've received berating us for calling the one-game ladies' professional umpire, Bernice Gera, gutless. The letter, without return address, is written on red stationery (which we hope isn't symbolic... oh, forget it!) by Mr. M. L. Ciardella, and questions our philosophic attitude toward fellow human beings as well as our knowledge of the entire situation.

Unfortunately, the item, which ran four paragraphs, was cut by the editor to one because of space problems, and the three which were cut contained, we believe, a further explanation of our attitude toward fellow human beings and displayed some of the knowledge of the situation of which Mr. Ciardella considered us ignorant.

So for Mr. Ciardella's edification, and perhaps for the edification of others who may have been puzzled by the mini-version of the item, we herewith reprint the item in toto:

"WE HATE TO SOUND like a male chauvinist pig, but our week's Gutless Award goes to would-be lady umpire Bernice Gera, who, after winning a six-year legal battle to break the sex barrier in umpiring quit in tears after her first game (without even the courtesy to finish a doubleheader) because, 'I knew after the umpires' meeting... where I stood.'

"The other umpires, she said, refused to discuss their signals or their officiating techniques with her.

"Even though she booted a play and thumbed the manager for protesting a decision she later reversed, she seriously claimed, 'I called a good game.'

"We'd call all this bending under pressure, and grace under pressure is what umpiring is all about. So she was rebuffed by her colleagues. Just what did she expect?... and we wonder if she thinks Jackie Robinson was welcomed by his teammates with a tea party when he broke baseball's color barrier."

NOW, TO THAT ITEM we'll add the other things we were going to say when we realized we were running out of space. Not only was Mrs. Gera gutless, she was unprofessional and absolutely bereft of integrity. She was breaking a long-standing barrier, and we're sure nobody ever told her it would be easy, nor should she have expected it to be.

She later announced that she was joining women's lib causes. It we were big in women's lib, we wouldn't have her. It is women just like her, the grandstanders who wilt under the first heat, who do more damage to all that women's lib stands for than all the male chauvinist pigs in the world, because it is women like her who "prove" chauvinists' numerous points.

We suppose it would have been nice if Mrs. Gera's male colleagues that day would have kissed her umpire's indicator, but we don't agree with Mr. Ciardella that they were, as he put it, "animals." They were human, and humans who are having their positions threatened aren't always so nice, and that's life, and that's exactly what Mrs. Gera should have expected and been able to cope with.

Well, that's it, that's the personal letter Mr. Ciardella would have received had he given us his return address.

Mr. Ciardella concluded his letter thusly: "Examine your own conscience and see maybe if you didn't give the 'Gutless Award' to the wrong person."

We have duly examined our conscience and have come to the conclusion that we did, indeed, give our "Gutless" award to the wrong person. We should have reserved it for all people who write letters to the editor which either aren't signed or have no return address.

Roundup of Playground Activities in Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Department playgrounds are quite active with varied activities being held throughout the City.

Playgrounds are open on a daily basis Monday through Friday. Parents should consult their copy of the summer booklet for each playground schedule.

F.D. Roosevelt — Leaders: Ed Darnell and Dean Chalios

We recently held a Frisbee contest at F.D. Roosevelt with all the area "Frisbee Freaks" participating. It was a real success with Dan Brumsey and Jim Russitano, first and second in the 12 and older division. A new baseball league has been set up for seventh, eighth and ninth graders with teams representing various playgrounds and parks in Daly City.

The F.D. Roosevelt Mets, featuring Ronny Schrier, Peter Ricci and Marty Sands, just to name a few, are expecting to "tear up" the league. We are especially looking forward to playing the team from George Washington. A Ping-pong tournament will be held on Monday, July 31, starting at 11 a.m. All interested "Ping-pongers" should sign up with the recreation leaders.

Frankfort Park — Leader: John Relic

Frankfort Park had a total of 18 children, ages 7 to 13, participated in the Frisbee contest. The boys' 12-15 division was won by Charles Sawyer, with William Lewis taking a close second. There were no entries in the Girls' 12-15 division. In the Boys' 11 and under division, Jim Pagan was the winner and Tim Salaver, the runnerup. In the girls' 11 and under division, Christine Riley was the winner, and Kathryn Patterson the runnerup.

Little Jeff — Leader: Pat Vince

With the heat wave invading Daly City, many youngsters at Little Jeff took full advantage of it. Water balloon fights took place on both Thursday and Friday afternoons. On Thursday the prime target was Tom Patrick. However, by Friday, the playground director appeared to be everyone's target. I stood defenseless against George Desperati, Mike Simon, Dick Gumi-na, Kenny Kinara, Leslie, Janice, and Michael McDonald. Dorian Garibaldi, Mark Goodman and many others. It was great fun for all and certainly a cool relief from the hot weather!

This week a "play day" is in the making. On Thursday from 11:30-1 p.m. a barbecue is planned. Immediately following the barbecue will be sack races, relay races, an egg toss, an apple bobbing contest, and other various activities. Judging from past participation in such "special" events, Thursday could hardly be anything short of FUN!!

Junipero Serra — Leader: William Schultz

The past week must surely be one of the most historical for Junipero Serra playground. In all categories, weather, attendance, number of activities — monumental new records were established. During the five blazing hot days, a Frisbee contest was held for local virtuosi during which Terje Rogue displayed his manifold skills and secured first place in the contest, followed by runnerup Mike Kennedy. In the upper age group Steve Sattler won first place against runnerup Mike Murray with a whopping two points. Exceptional talent was exhibited by our scorekeeper and judges Benny Rogue (peculiarly enough, brother to the first place winner) and Kevin Whalen.

On Friday, probably the hottest day of the week, our barbecue banquet was held and as was pre-arranged, those with the lowest scores in the Frisbee contest (specifically Wilke See-Tho and Phil Motosich) got their food cooked first. The weather was not the most suitable for barbecuing but relief in the form of two large bags of ice cubes was provided by Danny Martinez and Don Escobedo.

A. Lincoln — Leaders: Mike Rasche, Kathy Albrecht, Steve Roche

Frisbee champions were the talk of the Abe Lincoln playground. On the playground level, the qualifiers from A. Lincoln were Donald Reich, Keith Dowdell, Chris Yamamoto, Lisa Prado, and Tami Underwood. The champion watermelon eaters have been crowned. Ronnie Williams was the champ in the under twelve division while his brother Mike Williams won the over twelve division. Charly Giolli took second while Renee Jackson and Jim Jense tied for third in the under twelve division. It was a great contest, but the kids are still picking the seeds off their faces.

The Stanley cup of Abe Lincoln is being hotly contested in the playground broom hockey league. Keith Prader and Dietz Balogot have led the Blades to a "two game to none" lead over the Iciers. Tommy Pinkston and Celeste Thorne played well for underdogs.

Corrinne Schoepp is the "Betty Crocker" of Abe Lincoln as her marble fudge cake won the recent baking contest.

The Olympic gymnastics trials are going to be held at Abe Lincoln. The girls are busy brushing up on their techniques on the jungle gym.

Northridge Park — Leader: Steve Becker

Last week at Northridge Park the sunny weather attracted many new faces which kept the park alive with new activities.

Tuesday, we held a whiffle-ball game which saw "Big Daddy's" gang defeat the "Big Momma's" team 7-3. Tim Cronin collected three runs batted in while providing some excellent pitching for "Big Daddy's." Richard Rogers and Sheri Browne also played well for the victors. Donna Cronin proved a capable pinch hitter for the losers, while Mike Dunevent, Nickey De and Jimmy Martin scored for the "Big Momma's."

Many children are following the director's lead and beginning to organize basketball games and "poison" competition. Next week we plan to have a basketball "2 on 2" contest to be held on Tuesday to be followed by a barbecue. Interested participants should contact the recreation leader to be entered in the tournament. Also, plan to organize the barbecue Monday afternoon.

Our Lady of Mercy — Leader: Kathy Curry

The Frisbee contest began with a barbecue and marshmallow roast. The Frisbee contest was then conducted and the winners are: Tom McNab, 1st and Rick Restivo, 2nd, — 11 and under with Richard Galliani, 1st and Mark Scalia, 2nd in 12-15. Rosey McNab, 1st and Mary Jo McNab, 2nd in 12-15, and Nancy Noonan, 1st and Sandi Cristofani, a 2nd in 11 and under. A water balloon fight followed the competition and all participants were thoroughly drenched. All in all, it proved to be an exciting day.

Panorama — Leader: Michael Macia

A bubble gum blowing contest was held at Panorama School last week. Top blowers in the 11 and under division were Robert Jefferson, Ralph Macia, James Siri. The big tie for second place was between Terry Lopez, Eric Smiley, Eric Jackson, Greg Fior, and George Natesh. In the older division, winning honors go to Jim Gallagher, with Ralph Jackson in second place.

In last week's Frisbee contest the 11 and under division was won by John Dorman and Tony Barolich took second place, and Paul Gustavio, and Doug McClusky also did very well. In the older division Ralph Jackson was the winner with Gino Renaldi taking second place.

Last week's carroms champ was Tony Sebastiani.

Skyline School — Leader: Sue Coleman

Last week Skyline School held many special events. On Tuesday, we held the Frisbee contest. The winners were Steve Renz, Joyce Jacobsen, Kathy Gonzalez, Timmy DiLucci and Maria Tomos. On Wednesday, we had a Strike-out tournament. The winners were Marty Wilson and Steve Renz. This will continue every Wednesday at noon. Anyone who wants to enter can sign up. Friday is barbecue day. This coming Friday, we will have a barbecue and tie-dye shirt day. Everyone is welcome.

Vista Grande School — Leader: Robert E. Rossi

At Vista Grande this week, recreational activities continued to move along just as scheduled. Some new games and events were tested and the kids, I am happy to write, remained in their usual lively and spirited nature.

Congratulations to Anthony Roston for literally walking away with the School Frisbee championship. However, due an illness Tony could not make the City toss-offs to manifest his incomparable talent with the disc.

A job well done to the round Hugh Loveless in leading his softball team to its 6th consecutive win. Hugh's torrid hitting is enough to even make the great Hank Aaron flash an envious eye.

To chess king and grandmaster Jose Ruiz, a superb showing in the Vista Grande finals. Jose constantly drove his adversary into making rash and impetuous moves and proved who the true champion really was.

Get well soon to John Wetherbee who has just survived a nasal operation. And good luck to Mildred and Marie Wetherbee and Judy Lee, the culinary three, in their preparation of the upcoming playground picnic.

On behalf of Dennis Flannery, Recreation Department Trip coordinator, I sincerely apologize to those children who signed up for the Knowland Park Zoo trip but were unable to attend because of a misunderstanding in departure time.

something about retirement once and for all at age 24. Following are some quotes by Conigliaro from a March 26 story by Larry Whiteside in The Sporting News:

"I'm going to do all I can to restore the family name. I'm more relaxed here with Milwaukee. I plan to have a super year. The trade (from Boston to Milwaukee) was great for me. It's what I wanted. Getting away from Boston will be great. I'm glad I'm with Milwaukee."

IF THE A's GET into the World Series, they're going to have a helluva time cutting up the pot, considering all the transients they've had this year. Since the season began, Finley has picked up Orlando Cepeda, Bill Voss, Art Shamsky, Joel Horlen, Tim Cullen, Marty Martinez, Ollie Brown, Mike Kilkenny and Don Shaw; and has traded or sold Brown, Kilkenny, Shaw, Bobby Brooks, Curt Blefary, Brant Aleya, Larry Haney, Jim Roland, Diego Segui, Ron Clark, Dwain Anderson and Denny McLain. And probably a few more between the time this is typed and the time The Post is published.

It hasn't been publicized at all, as far as we know, but Hank Aaron has a good chance of beating Babe Ruth's career RBI record as well as his career homer record. Aaron has passed the 2,000 RBI mark. Ruth's total stands at 2,209.

BALTIMORE, Cleveland, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minnesota and New York in the American League, and Atlanta and San Diego in the National League, all have, at this writing, lower attendance marks than the Giants.

Keep in mind, however, that all except San Diego have played fewer games than the Giants.

And the poor Giants just can't do anything right. The year they get rid of Mays, they fix the stadium so that the balls are popping over the left field wall like they're all Jack Nicklaus wood shots; while at the same time somehow managing to alter the atmosphere around the right field wall so that what used to be a homerun alley is now becoming almost as difficult as the Dodger Stadium right field wall. If Willie McCovey's knees don't retire him a couple of years prematurely, that right field barrier may.

IT'S IRONIC that when Gaylord Perry was with the Giants during the years when they were scoring heavily ALL the time, they could never get any runs for him; and now that he's with the lowest run producing club in the Majors, they seemingly score for him and hardly any other member of the starting rotation.

Here's one to stump your friends with. It the very early days of baseball, managers were forbidden to sit on the bench!

The recent Giant surge has just struck us with a horrible thought. Suppose they finish second again?!

Marilyn King Has High Hopes For a Ticket to Munich Olympics

Marilyn King of the Millbrae Lions Track Club almost had her Olympic pentathlon hopes squashed by a spring ankle operation, but Coach Ed Parker is still fighting to get her a ticket to Munich.

Marilyn was still out of condition for the national pentathlon competition earlier this summer, and didn't make the Olympic qualifying standard of 4,200 points.

Neither did any of the other competitors, and if nobody does make that standard only the national winner, Jane Fredericks, can go to Munich.

But neither Marilyn nor Parker are calling it quits—this is the big year.

Parker has arranged with the U.S. Olympic Committee to stage two special pentathlon meets for the four top U.S. girls (including Marilyn), in the hopes that at least three will meet the standard.

That's the only way the U.S. will be able to send a full women's pentathlon team to Munich.

Nancy Eichelberger

All afternoon Kickball games have attracted many kids at Westlake School. The teams Paul's Pirates and Ronnie's Reds, have been competing daily to break their tie. Paul Gianini captain of Paul's Pirates, has organized a strong team. Being supported by Denise Reynolds, Brenda Silverman, Susan Sylvester, George Perry, John Hermes and Mike Kelly. Paul never gives up in a game. Ronnie Cipro, captain of Ronnie's Reds also has faith in his teammates. With great pitching from Stevie Clapper and great support from shortstop Bonnie Cipro and 1st baseman John McHugh, the Reds had a great defensive. Other players Mike Rubin, Steve Bono and Tom McClafflin also give strength to the team.

Strike out competition also has been big here. It has attracted the interest of many boys this baseball season. Vince Rovai, Mike Bolte, David Mackriss and Mitch Orgich continually enjoy competing with one another.

In between the game of kickball and strikeout, special events will take place. A Game Day featuring potato sack races, 3-legged races and mummy races to name a few is in the making. Check with the recreation leader for further details.

M. P. Brown — Leader: Joe Boboschi

M. P. Brown extends his congratulations to Eric Sausjord for winning first place in the City-wide Frisbee contest on July 14 at the War Memorial. Eric withstood some stiff competition in taking first place. The barbecue and water balloon fight during the last hot spell was a success. Theresa Furbin, Chris and Matt Amoroso were deadly accurate with their tosses as was evident by the soaked recreation leader. Thursday and Friday will continue to be open for broom hockey, at 2 p.m. Don't forget that Friday is barbecue day. Bring your hot dogs or hamburgers to the play ground at 12:30 p.m.

Westmoor Park — Lou Quint, Leader

The Westmoor Broom Hockey League finished up today but not without surprise and upset. Only three games were on the schedule and the red hot Rangers were winners of two of them. As Steve Quansrom and Glicita Mananquil spearheaded the Rangers' fourth and fifth wins over the Mapleleaves and Bruins to push their winning streak to four games.

In other loop action the Blackhawks were upset for the first time this year as George Spiliotis came out of his goalie box to score two goals and give the Blackhawks their first setback of the season.

In the afternoon session, the Westmoor teams joined together to play the Abe Lincoln All Stars. The Lincoln All-Stars got off to a fast start as Keith Prator and Leonard Hogg scored a goal each, 5 minutes into the 1st period. But it was all Westmoor after that as defensemen Craig Bloom and Wings Cary Candau continued with a goal each to tie the score to two all.

With the score tied at 2 all, goalie George Spiliotis was put in the game and sparked for the next two periods as he shut out the Abe Lincoln All Stars. Spiliotis received help in the form of two goals each by Greg Lipnick and Craig Candau.

The Junior team lost the second game 3-2 to the Abe Lincoln Junior All Stars.

Pat Wolfmont paced the losers with 2 goals.

Both special meets will come before the opening of August's Olympic training camp in Urbana, Ill. Parker has scheduled the first competition for July 27-28 at Sacramento State.

"I don't think Marilyn will do it there," Parker said. "She's been doing some very hard conditioning work, and that usually leaves you a little flat in the technical events, like the shot put."

Then, on August 4-5, Parker will have another meet at Lake Tahoe—and that's the one he really has high hopes for.

"People think that high elevations hurt performance," Parker says. "That's only true of distance events."

"When you run a sprint race you're using the oxygen that's already in your bloodstream. The body can only take in five liters or so of oxygen per minute—so the amount you take in during an 11-second sprint isn't going to make much difference."

"So from a quarter mile on down the higher elevation is actually an advantage. The air resistance is less. You'll notice that the records broken in the Mexico City Olympics were in the sprints."

"So we're hoping the elevation will give the girls that little extra edge, not only in running events, but in things like the long jump or shot put, where a little less air resistance could conceivably make a difference."

Frederick has lost a little edge since the national competition, but there is still plenty of competition for Marilyn. Gail Fitzgerald is very close to the qualifying standard. And a frustrated high jumper, Linda Iddings, is also coming on strong.

Marilyn's teammate, half-miler Cis Schafer, finished fifth at the Olympic Trials in Frederick, Md., but has been invited to the training camp, since only one currently healthy U.S. women's half-miler has met the Olympic standard of 2:05.

Cis' best time so far is 2:07. Her biggest problem won't be beating the other girls—it'll be trying to top a whole two seconds off her time to make the standard. But she still has a chance.
